It's been a month or so now since the EU referendum. The wave of resignations and political infighting that began the day after seems to show no sign of stopping at the time of writing. The argument between fervent supporters of both sides in the debate has also not abated.

Whatever you thought of the result – some reading this will still be delighted, others dejected – most people I have spoken to have shared the same sense of disappointment in the quality of the discussion. There are two things I think were seen to be clearly lacking which we desperately need to regain: respect and humility.

Respect: for the truth, as both sides were criticised by official bodies for 'creative' use of statistics in their campaigns; for each other: as words like 'ignorant', 'bigoted', 'craven' and 'gullible' – ones printable were thrown around like confetti at a wedding. We seem to have collectively come to believe that anyone who disagrees with us is either wilfully deluded or being deceptive.

Humility: to consider that just possibly someone else experiences life differently, weighs the evidence differently, has a perspective that deserves consideration. Humility: that I am not infallible in my judgements, perfect in my knowledge. At the time of the last Civil War in this country one of the main players, Oliver Cromwell, wrote this 'I beseech you, in the bowels of Christ, think it possible that you may be mistaken.'

Christian Churches have never been immune from disagreement – either now, or in their earliest days – and Paul had to write to several to help them deal with it well. To one Church he wrote this: "The entire law is fulfilled in keeping this one command: 'Love your neighbour as yourself.' If you bite and devour each other, watch out or you will be destroyed by each other". Jesus, when asked to clarify exactly who our neighbour is, pointed out someone who was different in race, opinion and lifestyle.

Jesus himself, no stranger to arguments, demonstrated respect for all individuals, and, despite being God and wiser and more powerful than we can imagine, humbled himself even to death for our sake.

Scarecrow Festival 2016

Newtown Linford Scarecrow Festival Weekend

24th and 25th September 2016

It's time to get ready for balmy evenings, ripening fruits and the changing season. And with that comes one of the favourite village events of the year - the Scarecrow Festival weekend.

So, get your old clothes out of the wardrobe and off the hangers, make ready your scarecrows, submit your entry form, and enjoy the weekend!

Entry forms must be in by 4pm on Friday 23rd September, in order to be included in the programme - please deliver them to the post office on Main Street or, if you struggle to get there, email them to beate-helmke@web.de. If you are late, you can still put a scarecrow out, you just won't be included in the programme — don't worry you can still be judged and the people can vote for you, please just drop us an email with your entry details by Saturday morning.

As always, programmes will be available for 50p each at the Post Office shop throughout the weekend and we will have some mobile supporters in the village selling programmes.

Don't forget to get your scarecrows outside and assembled by 10am on Saturday morning. Someone will be available to meet and greet those people who want to display scarecrows in the 'Scarecrow Patch' in the Bradgate conservatory tearoom gardens from 9.30am-10.30am on Saturday 24th September.

You may wish to take your scarecrow, or elements of it, in for the night from Saturday to Sunday - please don't forget to put it out again so that all the visitors to the village over the weekend can see it.

Local businesses, and Bradgate Park, are again supporting the weekend - don't forget to contact us if we haven't yet been able to get in touch with you, and we'll be happy to talk about putting an advert for your business in the programme. Please contact Chris via email at chris@wroe.co.uk or Beate at beatehelmke@web.de (or tel. 01530 245198).

A big thanks to everyone who has so far helped or said they'll be happy to be involved - it's still not too late: if you'd like to help us out over the weekend, or if you have any questions or queries, please do get in touch - we'd be very happy to hear from you.

How to Make Your Scarecrow - suggested method

Cut a 10 foot bamboo pole into two pieces, one 4 feet long and the other 6 feet long

Place the 4 foot section across the 6 foot section piece, 1 foot down from the top

Wire the two pieces together with floral wire, twine or raffia

Place an old shirt on the short cross-piece of the frame and button the shirt in front

Stuff the shirt loosely with straw, dry leaves or rags

Place gloves at the end of the 'arms' and secure them with rubber bands Pull one leg of a pair of trousers onto the long bamboo pole. The other leg will hang freely

Tuck the stuffed shirt into the waist of the trousers

Secure the waist of the trousers to the pole with a rope or belt, tying the belt or rope to the cross-piece if necessary, to keep the pants from falling down

Stuff the pants with stuffing material of your choice

Make a head for your scarecrow by stuffing straw into a pillowcase. Tie the pillowcase opening onto the top of the long stake with rope. Or you could use natural materials - a large cabbage or melon, stuck onto the top of the stake.

Draw a face with felt-tip pens, or glue on buttons for eyes and yarn for a mouth, or stick in fruit and vegetables for the eyes, nose and mouth, using cocktail sticks

Stick the scarecrow in the ground or tie it securely in another location.

Think about your theme and whether you want to add any accessories/create a background

Tips

Be creative! Scarecrows can be male or female, animal or alien!

Dress up your scarecrow according to the occasion, or try and think of a theme - one idea is to look at what has been current in the news or events over the last year

If you're in it to win it: the judges will be looking for creativity, evidence of effort and your own handiwork, and originality

From the Park Making Summer Last Longer

August is our busiest month of the year on the Park, apart from those rare years when the quirks of the British weather give that accolade to July. On busy weekends, it seems as though the floodgates open and a human tsunami can be seen making its way down the carriageway towards the Deer Barns.

One of the things that we spend a lot of time thinking about is how to engage with the great mass of humanity that descends on the Park in the summer. What I call the Bradgate Paradox is that the Park is so important and special to academics and experts from such a wide range of disciplines – geologists, archaeologists, historians, botanists, entomologists all find things here to get very excited about – but most people locally love Bradgate as a place to walk the dog, feed the ducks and play with the children, much as they might any other public park. Not that there is anything wrong with this, far from it – Charles Bennion gave Bradgate for "a public park and recreation ground" after all – but we just feel that they are missing so much.

Unfortunately, sometimes welcoming the "public park and recreation ground" visitors is not compatible with exercising the responsibilities that we have for the care of the Park's heritage. An example of this is the Ruins where the staff on duty have been spending too much of their time stopping people climbing on the walls and even riding bicycles on the Scheduled Monument – sometimes getting verbally abused and even threatened in return – and not enough answering questions and engaging with those visitors who want to discover more about one of the most important houses of Tudor England. Having opened the gates of the Ruins to all comers on selected days for a number of years, we will in future be adopting a different approach and access at weekends during the summer will only be by joining an organised tour, booked at and starting from the Visitor Centre.

The Visitor Centre welcomed 10,000 visitors during its first five weeks of opening and the comments in the Visitors Book show how well it has been received with a typical one reading "I have been coming here for 40 years and have learned so much about the Park that I never knew before."

The Visitor Centre is primarily staffed by volunteers and we are still looking for more people to join the team so if you have a passion for

17 Bradgate that you would like to share with others and can spare a minimum of two days per month, please email visitor@bradgatepark.org Great expertise is not required, just enthusiasm and a smile!

As part of the Visitor Centre development we converted the old entrance lobby to a kiosk serving takeaway hot and cold drinks and ice creams and this has proved very successful in reducing queue times at the Deer Barn Tearooms – no more queuing for half an hour for a cup of tea and a piece of cake!

One of the things we are trying to do is extend our season beyond the end of the summer holidays and this year we are staging a month of events in September. The full programme is still being finalised as I write but highlights include a book signing by Leanda de Lisle, author of "The Sisters Who Would Be Queen" and a costumed talk on Elizabeth I by Lesley Smith, Curator of Tutbury Castle. Our popular Living History Weekend takes place on 10th & 11th September and once again members of the Sealed Knot will be colonising the field behind the cricket pitch from Friday onwards.

The Edible Forest Festival, celebrating the produce and producers of Charnwood Forest, is being held between 16th and 18th September. Full details and tickets from www.edibleforest.co.uk Our event, Tea in the Tower in Old John Tower in association with the Grey Lady Deli. Sold out within the first three days.

We will also be holding a number of walks and talks celebrating various aspects of the Park's heritage.

For details of all events apart from The Edible Forest, including ticketing arrangements, keep an eye on our website and Facebook page.

Elsewhere, our restoration of the Park's grassland habitats continues – the latest reward for which has been a wonderful show of harebells – as we carry on our work of relegating the bracken from its position as the dominant vegetation type to one component of a mosaic of many different ones. We unusually had continuous fine weather for cutting and baling the hay from Swithland Meadow and we hope that some of the seeds from this will add to the wildflower populations on the Park when we feed it to them over the winter.

Enjoy the remainder of the summer and I look forward to seeing you on the Park.

Boules

We have waited in vain so far this year for a warm sunny Tuesday evening for our games of boules. At least in August it did not rain though the skies were overcast. We had a good turnout with fourteen players at the Blue Bell at Hoby. The July winner, Keith Turner, presented the Brian Chell cup to the new winner, David Woodward, who has now won twice this season.

Boule Facts 3

The modern game is believed to have descended from a centuries old version played by sailors on shore leave in which canon balls were used. Today boules, always thrown underhand, are made of hollow steel, stainless steel, or bronze weighing typically between 710 and 720gms.

The process of casting two halves and welding them together to form a hollow sphere was patented in 1923.

Players identify their boules by the number of striations (circular lines) inscribed in the surface which number between one and four. A set of boules can be 4, 6 or 8 each suitably marked. If you play a game of two in a team you use 3 boules and in a three man team 2 boules each.

More Boule Facts next month. Find out how some very well known words originate from the game of Boules.

Our next game is on Tuesday 6th September, meet at the Village Hall at the earlier time of 6.00pm. New players always welcome.

Village Ramblers July /August Walks

A dozen walkers on the July walk followed the path on the outside of the park past Hunts Hill and down to the Hallgates entrance. Here we had a brief stop to enjoy an ice cream. We turned off the main path to return along the ridge passing near to Tyburn Hill. We finished a very enjoyable afternoon with tea and scones at Glenis's house In August we ventured further afield to Burton on the Wolds. We passed through a spinney, and had a fine view of Prestwold Hall, where a wedding was held. We passed St . Andrews's Church, then through more woods to stay cool on a hot day. We could have extended the walk, but some members mentioned the Pub, so we returned to the village and enjoyed a cuppa etc

Thank-you to Mick who invited us to join the Cathedral Walkers to St Bartholomew's Church at Quorn. While St Bart's is interesting it is the Farnham Chapel that added the icing to the cake. The Farnham Chapel is of national significance and of historic interest. It is not usually open to the public but by the grace of the Trustees of the Farnham Trust, we were given permission to visit. As usual we met in the local pub, the White Horse Inn,— interesting church, good pub, nice walk and brilliant sunshine.

10th September walk. Meet opposite the village Hall to depart at 2p.m.

WHAT IS CLEAN EATING?

I get asked this question time after time. There are hundreds of 'hip' people on social media touting the benefits of eating clean and changing your life, promoting recipe books and so on. The problem is many contain recipes with ingredients that you cannot find in your local supermarket or are very expensive.

Clean eating is simple really. It involves eating healthy lean proteins – eggs, chicken, turkey, pork, fish, occasionally lean red meats, lots of vegetables, fruits and a few starches – brown rice, sweet potatoes, whole wheat pasta/bread and porridge oats. Clean eating is about whole foods,— those that are un- or minimally processed, refined, and handled, making them as close to their natural form as possible. So don't think for one second that eating clean seems too complicated or hard work. In actual fact, I believe it's one of the simplest and most healthy ways to eat. You can make luscious soups, nutritious stews, protein pancakes, salads, meat with 3 veg and a healthy starch. The list is endless and many of these foods can be made in a big batch and frozen for future use.

It doesn't have to cost a fortune and shopping for it couldn't be easier. I usually tell my clients to stick to the front, sides and back in a supermarket. That's where you will usually find the fresh produce and the proteins.

Go on the internet, Pinterest is one of my favourite sites. It enables you to type 'chicken stew' into the search engine and it brings up lots and lots of chicken stew recipes for you to try. You can even save them in special folders. If you eat like this 80% of the time, you can enjoy your cake and chips without the guilt. Eat clean, stay healthy!

From the Records - Janet Neaverson

Several people who attended a recent Thursday Coffee Morning were interested in one of Joan Stevenson's edited books about the village - "Memories of Newtown Linford and Bradgate House". There was one item about the Post Office hold up on November 30th 1968. The Post Office was in the front room of the end cottage on what is now the corner of Grey Crescent.

I was asked to look in the Village Records. I found the newspaper cutting for that date with the headline "Intensive Search for Gunman". It said County detectives were continuing an intensive search for a teenager who held up the postmistress Miss Iris Brown. The masked youth who was wearing a crash helmet demanded money from Miss Brown and her 83 year old mother in the village post office. He ran off with his long barrelled gun after Miss Brown said her brother was on the premises.

Kitty herself recollected the story for Joan Stevenson's book (she was one of the core group - who met for a year to help put the book together).

It was a Saturday morning. My sister Lil was home. She had been scrubbing the steps and mother was with us in the front room where we had the Post Office. From the window I saw a youth walking backwards and forwards, backwards and forwards. He had an air force scarf wrapped round his face. I said Lil, "I don't know what that boy is walking about like that for". Then he came in, a gun in his hand and said "This is a holdup! Nobody will get hurt if you give me some money". And he put a bullet in his gun.

People say your blood runs cold and mine certainly did. I said to him, I'm sorry, you've come the wrong day, the postman's just been. I had just emptied the telephone box across the road and there were pennies all over the table. I told my mother to fetch my brother, knowing he was nowhere about. The lad panicked, pushed his gun into the top of his trousers and ran out of the front door and down the road.

Newtown Linford Gardening Club

The weather was glorious on the evening of our annual Summer Garden Party. Over eighty members and friends gathered at our Chairman's home and enjoyed a most convivial evening. A buffet of salmon, quiche and salad followed by gateaux, cheesecakes and cheese was served and washed down by glasses of Pimms, wine, beer and soft drinks. Everybody brought a prize for the raffle and a record number of 75 tickets were drawn to give them all away.

July has been a momentous month for two of our members. Joanne Kennedy who runs the 'Garden Blueprints' Garden Design Company created her first garden at the recent garden show at Tatton Park. She entered her garden in the 'blooming gardens' section and not only won a gold medal but also best-in-show in her category. This is a tremendous achievement on her very first occasion and we are all delighted for her.

Patricia Hardy, another of our members is also a member of the Cottage Garden Society and has had one of her photographs selected for their 2017 calendar, She is naturally delighted to receive this honour. Her work can be seen at an exhibition at the Shuttleworth Clarke Centre in Ulverscroft from 1st August until 30th September. Hopefully some readers will take the opportunity to view this exhibition.

Our August trip to Felley Priory in Nottinghamshire has proved very popular with a full coach of members aiming to enjoy a private visit to the gardens and a private lunch.

In September our speaker is Mick Eaton from Leicester Parks Department. He comes to us quite regularly and is always highly knowledgeable and entertaining and we never quite know what we are going to get until he arrives.

The opportunity to hear Fergus Garrett from Great Dixter has proved popular and all tickets have now been sold. We will have a packed hall to hear one of Britain's most charismatic gardening experts – a most prestigious highlight of our year.

We have welcomed a large number of new members this year and will be pleased if others want to join us. If you are interested in our activities just contact the Secretary (tel. 242452 or e-mail 01530242452@talktalk.net), or come to one of our meetings to see how you like it before making a commitment (£2 for visitors). Alternatively give us a ring and ask for a copy of our programme for the coming year and we will be pleased to send one to you.

Newtown Linford Neighbourhood Watch - A member of the Parish Council

NHW. On Saturday, 20th July I saw two Police/P.C.S.O. with the speed-gun on the bottom of Bradgate Hill. It was a very hot sunny day and the cars where parked everywhere so there was not much scope for speeding!!. We have heard nothing further from County Hall about the proposed traffic situation.

A farmer at the Anstey end of the village left his bales of hay unattended for about 20 minutes and returned to find 5 of them had been completely burnt away. I think someone was walking through and had a cigarette lighter with them and nothing better to do.

Two men were reported in other villages knocking on doors claiming to be from a water company and asking to look at the taps. Whilst one occupied the owner the other one helped himself to items from the house. At the same time a resident in Newtown had one man come who asked to look under the sink and said he would be coming back to carry out further work. The Water Board reminds us that that they never send out men to call without prior notice.

ICE as it is known meaning in case of emergency. For those of you who are new to having a mobile phone it is suggested that you put your next of kin or person to contact in your telephone under the contact name ICE. Then if you are unfortunate enough to be in an accident the emergency services will automatically look at your phone and contact them.

Speedwatch has finished and the signs were eventually taken down. It will be running again from 29th August for two weeks. Once again we would love your assistance if you can spare some time.

How to contact the Police

All incidents are to be reported to the Police and not the Beat Team by calling 101

They will then assess the situation and deal with the situation as they see fit. This may involve a vehicle from another area. If you wish also advise our NHW coordinator who will circulate if appropriate. The Beat Team can no longer respond directly

THE FRIENDS OF CHARNWOOD FOREST

Calke Abbey, History &Gardens Echoes from the past

President: Mrs Janie Martin

Talk by Celia Sanger on Monday 19 September 2016 at 7.30 Woodhouse Eaves Village Hall

Celia is a volunteer at Calke Abbey with several roles. She leads groups of visitors on guided walks of the gardens, talking about history, plants etc. She is part of a recently formed research group and also participates in other activities such as Calke Alive when she represents 17th,18thand 19th century members of Calke family, and also now coordinates the Calke Talks service.

This is her second year as a NT speaker, and she likes to keep her presentations informal, with a minimum of dates and lots of illustrations. Her talk covers the history of the gardens from the 18th century to the present time, with a little about the family and the work of the NT in the saving of the gardens over the last 25 years, to the present time.

Newtown Linford Parish Council

As from 1st September I become Parish Clerk and Registrar for Burials. I remain your Neighbourhood Watch Co-ordinator. During the year the following have retired Lydia Knott, Ken Waterfall and Dr. Richard Lowe. More has been written elsewhere about their retirement. I am setting out below details of all our present Council. Feel free to contact the Councillor living nearest to you or contact me to pass information to them. They are all ready and willing to assist you if at all possible.

Chair: Dr. Sue Pritchard lives at 109 Main Street 01530 243119

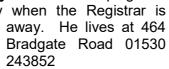

Councillor Janet Neaverson has been serving for over 40 years and will have retired on the 22nd August. Lives at 6 Grey Crescent 01530 242911

Street decoration. I wonder how many of you have noticed the planters on the lampposts on Bradgate Road around the park This is the gates. first year that a company has been employed to erect and water through the season. Previously different people have battled to climb the posts and water but alas noone is getting any younger and the previous Chair and Clerk decided to engage Plantscape, a company from Derbyshire. What do you think? Please let us know as we weigh up whether to pay again next year.

Sociability in the village. A resident has asked me to remind you that to have a bonfire on a Sunday is antisocial when people are sitting out relaxing. Difficult sometimes if it has rained during the rest of the week.

Bob Bown Memorial Field – quotes are being obtained for a new notice board to show the rules for the field and details in an emergency. The previous one seems to have disappeared. We are considering moving the dog bag bin that is hidden in the hedge at the top of the footpath to lower down where it is more visible.

Cemetery Extension on Groby Lane - The tenders are not rushing in. We still have only one although I think one more is about to be submitted.

Grass area at the bottom of Markfield Lane. The cutting of this has proved to be highly controversial. Part of it was planted with wild flowers by the Brownies a few years back with a grant. Whether that part should be cut and if so at what time of year seems to cause a lot of discussion amongst the residents. Ex Parish Councillor Claire Costello remains our link between the Parish Council and County Hall and she has been kept quite busy in this respect. If you have any views, please let us know.

Street Lights a resident has queried why the street lights do not go off at midgight as in other villages. To be honest I thought they did but I do not front the street. If you have a light near you, please let me know how it behaves.
